ALEXANDRE SATTLER

FRANCE

Travel and cultural immersion are the main subjects of Alexandre Sattler's work, through photography and radio documentary. Born in 1980, Alexandre grew up in the mountains. His playgrounds were the forests and neighbours' farms. He developed his care for all living beings at a young age. His love for nature led him to naturalist studies. His adventurous soul brought him to Africa at the age of 20. He returned to France to finish his naturalist and mountain guide diplomas and hit the road again as soon as possible, with his camera. From there he embarked on one trip after another with many missions abroad.

During the past ten years, Alexandre has spent over half of his lifetime on the road discovering our planet and its populations (Japan, Australia, Burma, India, Nepal, Mongolia, Togo, Ghana, Russia, Korea, Laos, Vietnam, Bangladesh, China, Morocco, Indonesia, Thailand, Cambodia). During his several peregrinations, Alexandre always remained focused on sharing his life experiences, largely through photography.

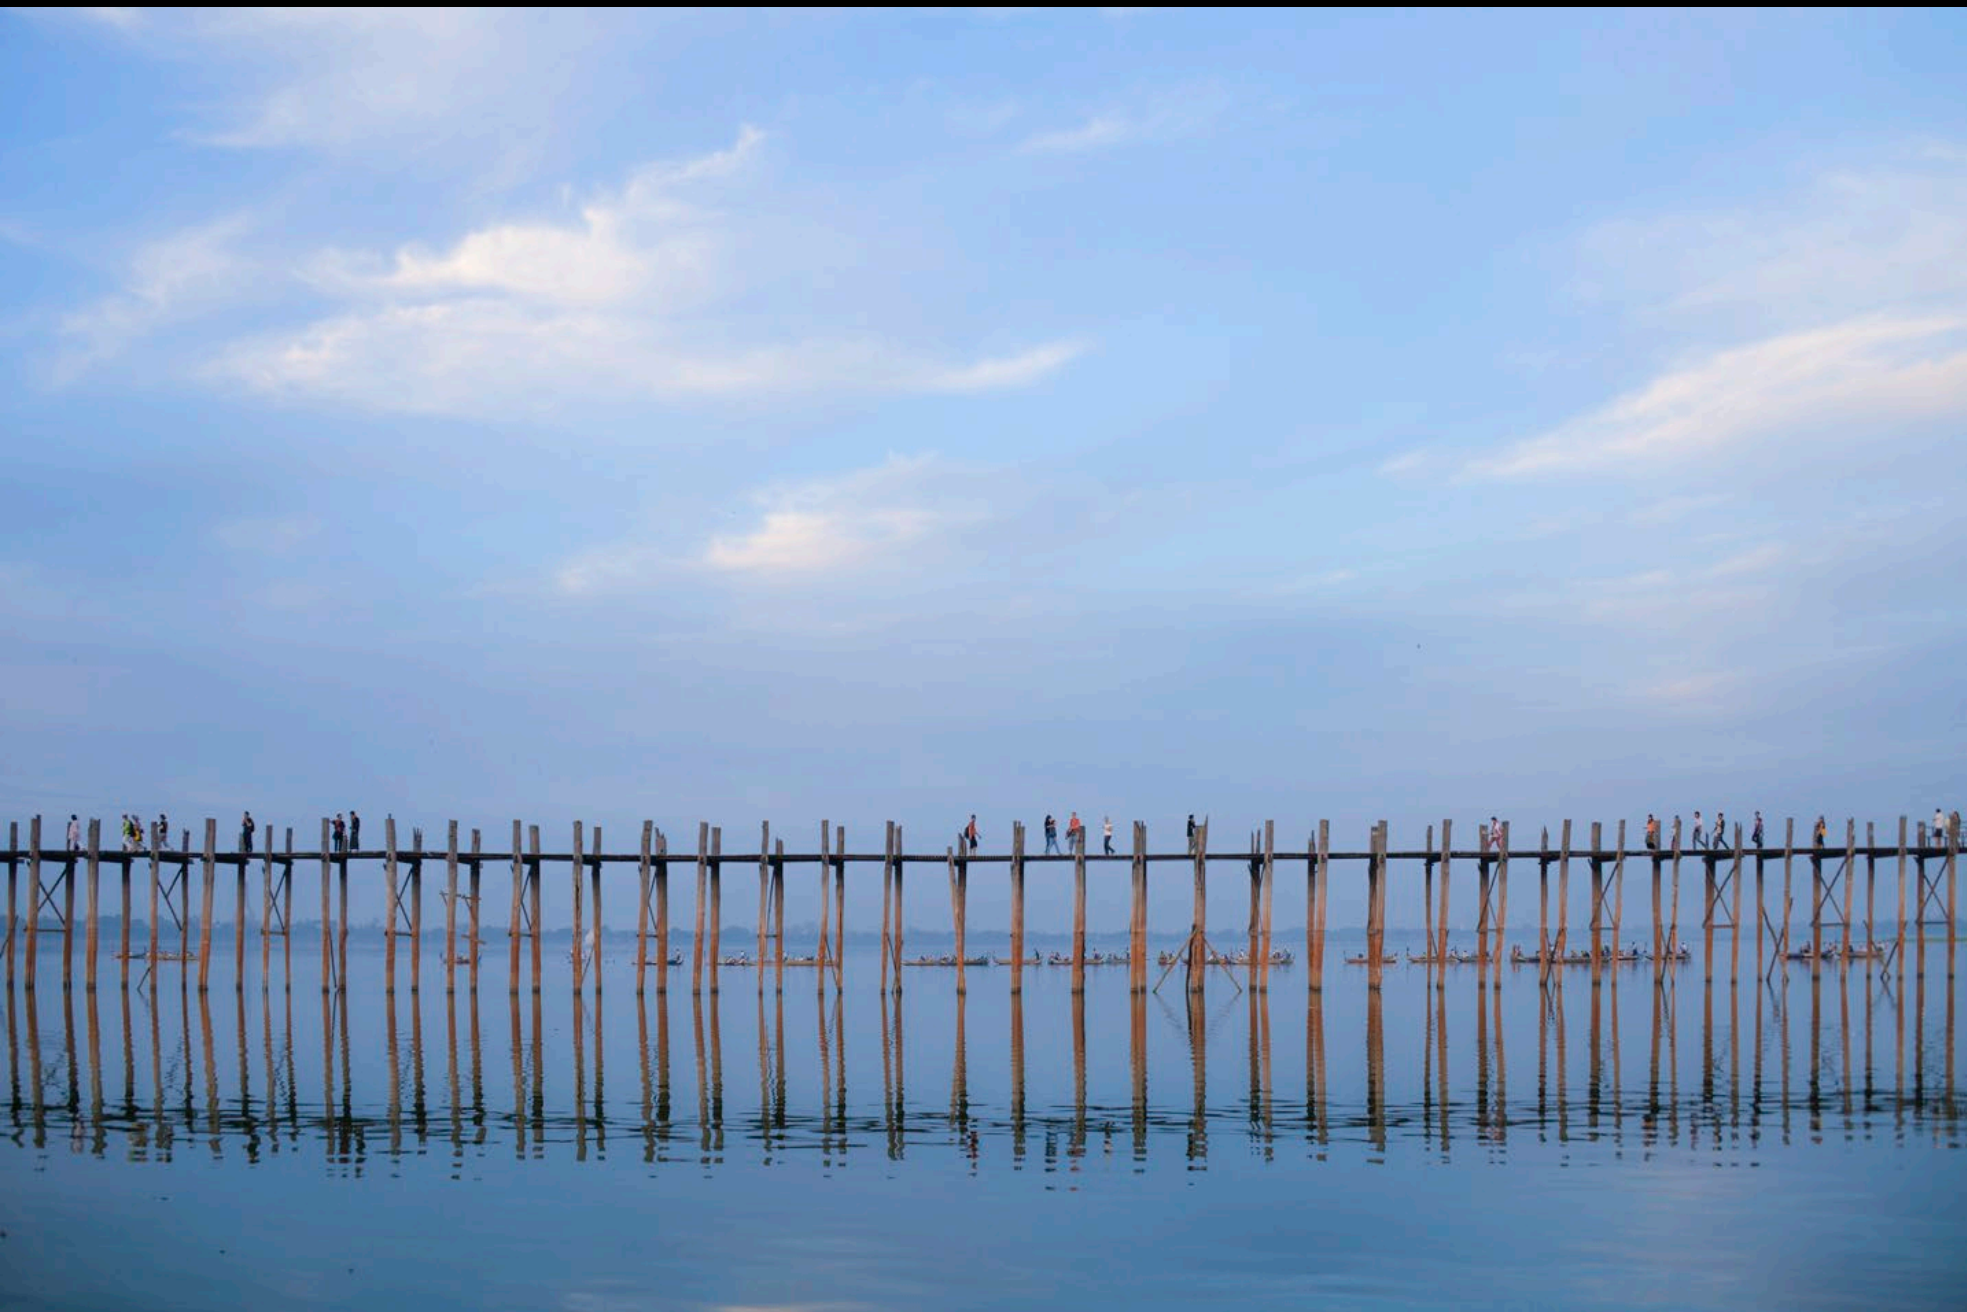

In 2006 he gave birth to the French NGO "Regard'Ailleurs", sticking with his will to share diversity that may either tear humans apart or unite us.

While he was in France he worked for an independent radio station, further training himself in journalism.

He then found himself producing radio programs, interviews and reports broadcast by over 60 French radio stations. Elaborating on photography or radio projects, Alexandre's studio is the space where he evolves, armed with curious observations and open ears to gatherings and diversity.

Today, he has published many articles and portfolios mostly about environment, ecology, education and spirituality.
